

i live in new jersey and before the do not call list was implimented i would recieve about 10-15 telemarketers calls per week, they were at all hours of the day and night, sometimes as early as 8 am on weekends and as late as 930 at night. these were very annoyaing and usually ended with me just hanging up as soon as they began to speak. i feel my time is much to valuable to listen to a bunch of salesmen pressuring me to by their unwanted products. do not let the telemarkets pressure you into reducing my states laws and being allowed to violate my right to piece and quiet at home. the fcc has had a tendacy to be presured by a few to limit many things in my life (ie my belief if you dont like whats being broadcast change the station).
